Gentle Guidance When You Need It Most

The loss of a baby either during pregnancy or soon after birth is a particularly difficult loss and you are the only person who fully understands what the loss means to you and your family. It is therefore very important for you and those around you to understand that your feelings may be intense and are expressions of your love and sense of loss.

Our caring team at Simplicity Funerals are here to guide you through your options at this time. What are the next steps to take and what are the options for you and your baby? We will come to you at home or hospital or meet with you at a location of your choice, to carefully guide you through. We can provide a beautiful basket or baby nest for your baby, arrange a burial or cremation should you so wish. We can assist you to create a ceremony or gathering of family and friends, or to simply gather together beautiful mementos of this time with your baby.
